Washington, May 7.—The administration tariff bill designed to bring the 1922 Fordney-McCumber act up to date was introduced in the house at noon today by Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee.

The sugar schedule about which the greatest controversy has centered was placed at 3 cents a pound on 96 degree sugar, the standard commercial grade. The usual 20 per cent preference accorded Cuba would make the effective rate against Cuba 2.4 cents a pound. The present basic rate is 2.20 cents.

Cement was taken off the free list by the committee and given a tariff of eight cents per 100 pounds, including the weight of the container.

Lumber remains on free list.

Shingles are given a 25 per cent ad valorem duty as protection against Canadian competition.

Raw or uncured hides were left on the free list.

The important wool schedule was boosted from the present rate of 31 cents a pound to 34 cents a pound on clean content. Only a small portion of coarse wools are produced in the United States, most of them coming from South America.

Wheat remains at 42 cents as in the present law.

Agricultural rate increases follow:

Fresh chilled or frozen beef, six cents a pound; sheep, lambs and goats, three dollars a head; mutton and fresh, chilled or frozen goat meat, 5 cents a pound; fresh chilled or frozen lamb, 7 cents a pound.

Washington, May 7.—The nation's 36th tariff bill was completed and ready to be introduced in the house at noon today by Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee—the fruit of four months' labor and destined to be of vital consequence in the fortunes of the Hoover administration.

This bill was designed by its republican sponsors to bring the Fordney-McCumber bill of the early Harding days up to date. President Hoover requested it be limited to revision of schedules which had become ineffective due to various economic changes since the tariff act of 1922 became operative.

Republicans leaders on the Ways and Means committee, adhering as closely to the president's view as was possible under the severe pulling and hauling of various interests affected held the changes to about 20 per cent of the schedules in the existing law, it was said.

The new bill, an 85,000 word document covering 200 pages, is destined to undergo many changes, especially in the senate, before it becomes law. Sugar, hides and cement have been the big controversial subjects in committee and these disputes will be carried to the floors of both houses.

Never before has a tariff been drafted in such secrecy. Not even democrats on the committee knew this morning what was in the bill.

Chairman Hawley arranged to introduce the bill to the house at noon. The full Ways and Means committee has been summoned to meet Thursday and formally report the bill.

Democrats on the committee are expected to vote against the bill but the republican majority will prevail and the fight will then be carried to the floor of the house.

Sugar is the center of the most spectacular fight with domestic beet sugar growers fighting to increase the duty on Cuban sugar and to limit importation of low-price sugar from the Philippines to 500,000 tons a year. Due to the opposition of Secretary of State Stimson largely, the proposal to limit Philippine sugar appears to have been blocked for the present.

Domestic sugar interests however appear to have won a preliminary victory in their fight against Cuban sugar by forcing a boost in the sugar duty from 2.2 cents a pound to 3 cents—minus a twenty per cent differential allowed to Cuba.

The house is expected to pass the bill within three weeks. Then the house may go into recess while the

Fairmont, Minn., May 7.—(U.P.)—Now it's: "Quick, Watson, the sponge."

HOOVER GRATIFIED OVER PROSPECTS OF NAVAL REDUCTION

Washington, May 7.—(U.P.)—President Hoover today expressed gratification over the prospect of naval reduction arising out of the present Geneva conference, in response to inquiries from newspaper men.

The president stressed specifically the agreement among the powers to substitute the term "reduction" for "limitation" in the armament discussion.

He expressed the hope that the ground work prepared by the recent statement by Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chief of the American delegation at Geneva, would be fruitful of important results.

5 PEOPLE INSTANTLY KILLED IN A GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENT

Sturgis, Mich., May 7.—(U.P.)—Five people were killed and a sixth died on the way to the hospital when a northbound Pennsylvania passenger train crashed into the automobile in which they were riding here last night.

Earl Ward, Sturgis factory worker; his wife and three children and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Lee, were the victims.

Three of the bodies were picked up five blocks from the scene of the accident.

COL. THOMAS W. MILLER IS ORDERED RELEASED

Atlanta, Ga., May 7.—(U.P.)—Col. Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, was believed to have left the federal penitentiary today, released on parole after serving 13 months of an 18 months term for conspiracy to defraud the government of his best services in connection with return of alien property after the war.

Acting Warden A. C. Aderhold declined to discuss Miller's departure, but it was learned from other sources he apparently had quietly left the prison and planned to take a train to Wilmington, Del., later in the day.

senate finance committee revises the house bill and carries the fight to the senate floor where a protracted battle extending into late summer or early fall is possible.

Corn, including cracked corn, is raised from 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds; corn grits, meal and flour, and similar products, from 30 to 50c a hundred pounds.

While the wheat rate remains at 42 cents, which is the 30 cent rate of the last act plus the increase made by the president under the Flexible Tariff Act, wheat flour, Semolina, crushed or cracked wheat and similar wheat products are increased from 78c to $1.04 a bushel.

Duties were materially increased on cotton yarn, cotton sewing thread and handwork cottons; countable cotton cloth; cotton cloth mixed with silk or wool; tapestries, velveteens.

On unbleached cotton cloth graduated ad valorem rates were provided with a rate of 41 1-2 per cent when the grade number exceeds 90, and compared with the present 50 per cent rate.

On bleached cotton cloth there is also a new graduated ad valorem scale with a rate of 44 1-2 per cent where the count exceeds 90, as compared with present 33 per cent.

On printed dyed or colored cotton cloth the new rates range from a minimum of 16 per cent compared with the present 15 per cent, up to a maximum of 47 1-2 per cent as compared with 40 per cent.

Dairy products were given increased protection.

The flexible tariff provision empowering the president to alter tariffs up or down by 50 per cent is left unchanged.

SINCLAIR IS NOW SERVING JAIL SENTENCE

HAS NO MORE PRIVILEGES, NO MORE PRIVACIES THAN PENILESS PRISONER

HIS VAST OIL BUSINESS, HOWEVER, GOES ON IN USUAL ROUTINE

Washington, May 7.—(U.P.)—Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil magnate and sportsman, woke up today in a "common jail"—with no more privileges and no more privacy than the peniless prisoners who were his bunk-mates.

He found himself on a narrow cot in a bleak room full of similar cots. There was no valet to draw his bath to the favorite temperature.

His vast oil business which reaches to the far ends of the earth, employing thousands of men and millions of dollars, went on as usual but no secretary appeared with reports of the previous days operations and there was no telephone within reach from which he could issue orders.

Sinclair aroused early to start the first day of the 90-day sentence he is to serve for contempt of the senate Teapot Dome investigation committee.

He was acquitted of charges that he conspired with Albert B. Fall to tempt the government out of the Teapot Dome Oil reserve. He is in jail because he refused, on advice of his lawyer, to answer some of the questions by the senate committee about his dealings with fall.

A picture of dejection, Sinclair walked through the grated doorway of District of Columbia jail at 8:45 last night. His step was halting. His chin was deep in his collar and his face sober.

With him went his attorney, G. B. Stanford, counsel for the Sinclair Oil companies and A. W. Sinclair, his brother.

Immediately after his first prison breakfast this morning, Sinclair reported to Superintendent Peak, for examination and assignment to work. It probably will be clerical work in the front office, the superintendent said.

Sinclair will wear his own clothes. Incidentally he will be known in the jail as "Sinclair" and not by number.

Washington, May 7.—(U.P.)—Harry F. Sinclair, dominant figure in the oil world, arose from a hard cot shortly after 5:45 a. m. today to serve the first day of a three-months sentence in district jail for contempt of the senate.

The multi-millionaire wore the expensive blue suit he had on when he arrived at the jail last night. He had discharged his white shirt for a colored one. A dark, four-in-hand tie and a light blue handkerchief protruding from the breast pocket of his coat completed his ensemble.

Sinclair issued a friendly but restrained greeting to fellow prisoners in the dormitory and walked hurriedly to the mess hall where he sat at a long wooden table and read two Washington newspapers while munching toast and drinking black coffee.

After completing his breakfast, Sinclair returned to the dormitory and later was examined by Major William L. Peak, superintendent of the jail, who assigned him to duty as assistant to Dr. Morris Hyman, jail physician.

Sinclair is a registered pharmacist and will have charge of the drug supply room on the second floor. In this position he will be virtually inaccessible to curiosity seekers.

At the jail it was explained the post had not been filled before because no registered pharmacist had been received there in years.

The wealthy prisoner started his new task shortly after receiving the assignment. His hours will be from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m.

He will not have to arise as early as he did today. One of the privileges enjoyed by special detail prisoners is permission to sleep until 7 a. m. if desired and still have time for a leisurely breakfast before reporting for work.

JUDGE GUILFORD, MILL CITY IN TALK AT ST. PAUL

ADDRESSES QUARTERLY CONFERENCE BOARD OF CONTROL INSTITUTIONS

INVEIGHS AGAINST LACK OF STRICT HOME DISCIPLINE FOR DELINQUENT CHILDREN

St. Paul, May 7.—(U.P.)—Immoral movies, the automobile, public dance halls and lack of strict home discipline are the chief causes of juvenile delinquencies, Judge Paul W. Guilford, Minneapolis, declared here today at the quarterly conference of the superintendents of board of control institutions.

"In my judgment," Judge Guilford said, "the movies and other theatrical productions are as morally harmful as any other factor. False standards of life and conduct constantly set up before our young people. Sex is unduly emphasized. It is difficult to find a movie that does not exhibit somewhere in its scenes drinking, drunkenness, carousing and sex immorality."

"Something ought to be done, either by censorship or otherwise to protect our young people from what they are getting in the theatre."

Following Judge Guilford's address a discussion of juvenile delinquency was led by Dr. James T. Fulton, superintendent of the Red Wing training school for boys and Mrs. Mary Stewart, superintendent of the home school for girls at Sauk Center.

Dr. Fulton was later scheduled to speak before the third district Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs at Hastings.

Faribault, May 7.—(U.P.)—Fire of undetermined origin caused an estimated $15,000 damage here today to a two-story brick building occupied by the Herbert Kester style store and the Milligan-Lundenberg Sign company. It was believed that the blaze originated in the paint shop which was the more seriously damaged. The style store losses mostly were from smoke and water.

FORMER TEXAS JUDGE CHARGED WITH DEATH OF HIS SON-IN-LAW

Amarillo, Tex., May 7.—(U.P.)—The grand jury resumed today its investigation of R. H. Hamilton, former judge of the Texas supreme courts appeal commission, charged with the death of Tom Walton, Jr., 21, his son-in-law.

Walton was riddled with bullets in Hamilton's office Saturday. He had secretly married Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, Feb. 10, while both were students at the University of Texas.

CAMPAIGN TO CURB RECKLESS DRIVING

Calumet, Mich., May 7.—(U.P.)—A campaign to curb reckless driving resulted today in one death.

Among first arrests in the drive was Wilbert Ollila, 22. He was arrested Sunday night and ordered for arraignment yesterday. He did not appear.

A search by his father revealed Ollila's body in an abandoned mine, with this note:

"I cannot face the disgrace of arrest. Death is better than arraignment in court."

He had shot himself in the head three times.

Two Balloon Entrants Found Nearly Exhausted

Port Henry, N. Y., May 7.—(U.P.)—Arthur Schlosser and Edward J. Hill, two of the entrants in the national balloon races which started Saturday at Pittsburgh, were found nearly exhausted today near Newcomb, N. Y. They came down yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock and passed the intervening time wandering in the woods near Moose Pond, an isolated mountain section.

DEEDS THE 'SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS' TO INSTITUTE

St. Louis, May 7.—(U.P.)—At the request of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the airplane "Spirit of St. Louis", in which he flew from New York to Paris has been deeded to the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, where it has heretofore been loaned for public showing. All claim to the famous monoplane has been relinquished by "The Spirit of St. Louis, Inc.," backers of the historic flight.

PRESENT 'COOL' SPELL CONTINUES

St. Paul, May 7.—(U.P.)—The present "cool" spell which may yet go down in history beside "the winter of the blue snow" was destined to continue today.

The weather man, who no doubt is as tired of it all as the rest of us, said:

"Fair tonight and probably Wednesday; not much change in temperature; frost probable tonight."

Chicago, May 7.—(U.P.)—The prospect of being made beautiful attracted so many girls to the beauty parlor operated by Mrs. Ruth Merchant that police became suspicious. They raided the place and found punch boards, offering water waves and permanents and prizes, slot machines which—if the player won—called for a complete treatment, and other similar articles. Mrs. Merchant will appear today to face charges of possessing a gambling device.

LATE TODAY OR ON WED-

By PAUL MELLAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 7.—President Hoover has declined to enter personally into the close senate confect over the debenture plan of farm relief, even though administration leaders believe some such move may be necessary to save the administration's farm program from embarrassment.

The leaders asked Mr. Hoover if he would issue a statement saying he would veto the farm bill if the debenture clause is included in it. Such a statement would gain at least three wavering republican votes, they said.

They were informed the president would consider such a statement an intrusion on the legislative activities of congress and an undue attempt to influence the senate.

he leaders were frankly worried. Their polls indicated the debenture amendment to the administration bill might be adopted by a majority of one or two votes, unless some mid-western republican could be induced to change his mind and follow the president. The vote is expected either late tomorrow or Thursday.

Congressional interest switched today to the house where the new tariff bill was ready for consideration after four months labor by republicans of the House Ways and Means committee.

The plan is to let representatives digest the contents of the bill over several days, and took it up for consideration probably next Monday. Debate is expected to be limited to two weeks and then the measure will be sent to the senate.

The house will never accept the debenture farm relief plan even if it should slip through the senate, house leaders say. It appears likely a deadlock between the two houses will result if the senate insists on adopting the measure.

There is little doubt among most of the leaders that Mr. Hoover would veto the bill if the debenture is included. He strongly denounced the plan in no uncertain terms in his letter to the senate agriculture committee two weeks ago.

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD IS REPORTED RECOVERING

Baltimore, Md., May 7.—(U.P.)—Sen. Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, who has been a patient at the church home and infirmary for two weeks, was today taken to Johns Hopkins hospital. Dr. Lewis F. Barker, his physician, said the senator is making steady progress.

Shipstead is suffering from complications following a severe attack of influenza in February. He was well enough last Saturday to talk to a member of the senate, which will enable him to be "paired" with some other senator on the opposite side when vote is taken on important measures, and the other senator wishes to be absent when the vote is taken.

LOUIS H. PIPER STRICKEN WITH FLU

Cleveland, O., May 7.—(U.P.)—Physicians attending Louis H. Piper, president of the United Aviation corporation, and prominent Minneapolis, Minn., banker, today reported his condition as encouraging. They believed the crisis would come tonight.

OF HIS SON-IN-LAW

Amarillo, Tex., May 7.—(U.P.)—The grand jury resumed today its investigation of R. H. Hamilton, former judge of the Texas supreme courts appeal commission, charged with the death of Tom Walton, Jr., 21, his son-in-law.

Walton was riddled with bullets in Hamilton's office Saturday. He had secretly married Hamilton's daughter, Theresa, Feb. 10, while both were students at the University of Texas.

CAMPAIGN TO CURB
RECKLESS DRIVING

Calumet, Mich., May 7.—(U.P.)—A campaign to curb reckless driving resulted today in one death.

Among first arrests in the drive was Wilbert Ollila, 22. He was arrested Sunday night and ordered for arraignment yesterday. He did not appear.

A search by his father revealed Ollila's body in an abandoned mine, with this note:

"I cannot face the disgrace of arrest. Death is better than arraignment in court."

He had shot himself in the head three times.

Two Balloon Entrants Found Nearly Exhausted

Port Henry, N. Y., May 7.—(U.P.)—Arthur Schlosser and Edward J. Hill, two of the entrants in the national balloon races which started Saturday at Pittsburgh, were found nearly exhausted today near Newcomb, N. Y. They came down yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock and passed the intervening time wandering in the woods near Moose Pond, an isolated mountain section.

DEEDS THE 'SPIRIT OF
ST. LOUIS' TO INSTITUTE

St. Louis, May 7.—(U.P.)—At the request of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the airplane "Spirit of St. Louis", in which he flew from New York to Paris has been deeded to the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, where it has heretofore been loaned for public showing. All claim to the famous monoplane has been relinquished by "The Spirit of St. Louis, Inc.," backers of the historic flight.

PRESENT 'COOL'
SPELL CONTINUES

St. Paul, May 7.—(U.P.)—The present "cool" spell which may yet go down in history beside "the winter of the blue snow" was destined to continue today.

The weather man, who no doubt is as tired of it all as the rest of us, said:

"Fair tonight and probably Wednesday; not much change in temperature; frost probable tonight."

IF YOU WON HERE
YOU WERE MADE
REAL BEAUTIFUL

Chicago, May 7.—(U.P.)—The prospect of being made beautiful attracted so many girls to the beauty parlor operated by Mrs. Ruth Merchant that police became suspicious. They raided the place and found punch boards, offering water waves and permanents and prizes, slot machines which—if the player won—called for a complete treatment, and other similar articles. Mrs. Merchant will appear today to face charges of possessing a gambling device.

REFUSES TO GIVE STATEMENT ON POSSIBLE ACTION

WOULD NOT STATE IF THE BILL
WOULD BE VOTED IF DEBENTURE
CLAUSE IS CARRIED

VOTE ON MEASURE EXPECTED
LATE TODAY OR ON WED-NESDAY

By PAUL MELLAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 7.—President Hoover has declined to enter personally into the close senate conflict over the debenture plan of farm relief, even though administration leaders believe some such move may be necessary to save the administration's farm program from embarrassment.

The leaders asked Mr. Hoover if he would issue a statement saying he would veto the farm bill if the debenture clause is included in it. Such a statement would gain at least three wavering republican votes, they said.

They were informed the president would consider such a statement an intrusion on the legislative activities of congress and an undue attempt to influence the senate.

The leaders were frankly worried. Their polls indicated the debenture amendment to the administration bill might be adopted by a majority of one or two votes unless some mid-western republican could be induced to change his mind and follow the president. The vote is expected either late tomorrow or Thursday.

Congressional interest switched today to the house where the new tariff bill was ready for consideration after four months' labor by republicans of the House Ways and Means committee.

The plan is to let representatives digest the contents of the bill over several days and took it up for consideration probably next Monday. Debate is expected to be limited to two weeks and then the measure will be sent to the senate.

The house will never accept the debenture farm relief plan even if it should slip through the senate, house leaders say. It appears likely a deadlock between the two houses will result if the senate insists on adopting the measure.

There is little doubt among most of the leaders that Mr. Hoover would veto the bill if the debenture is included. He strongly denounced the plan in no uncertain terms in his letter to the senate agriculture committee two weeks ago.

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD IS REPORTED RECOVERING

Baltimore, Md., May 7.—(U.P.)—Sen. Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, who has been a patient at the church home and infirmary for two weeks, was today taken to Johns Hopkins hospital. Dr. Lewis F. Barker, his physician, said the senator is making steady progress.

Shipstead is suffering from complications following a severe attack of influenza in February. He was well enough last Saturday to talk to a member of the senate, which will enable him to be "paired" with some other senator on the opposite side when vote is taken on important measures, and the other senator wishes to be absent when the vote is taken.

LOUIS H. PIPER
STRICKEN WITH FLU

Cleveland, O., May 7.—(U.P.)—Physicians attending Louis H. Piper, president of the United Aviation corporation, and prominent Minneapolis, Minn., banker, today reported his condition as encouraging. They believed the crisis would come tonight.

Piper was stricken with influenza 11 days ago. Pneumonia developed and when his condition became serious his wife and brother came here from Minneapolis.

JOHN SCHENK HAD RELATIVES GALORE

St. Cloud, Minn., May 7.—(U.P.)—If only the relatives of John Schenk, 98, attended his funeral tomorrow there would be 250 persons present. The pioneer was survived by his 97-year-old widow, seven children, 60 grandchildren, 160 great grand children and 23 great great grandchildren.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

May 7, 1904

The minstrel performance of the Bachelor Maids will be put on at the Brainerd opera house this evening and the affair bids fair to be one of the most interesting in many months.

Mrs. Kate Closterman, for years a resident of Brainerd, died last night in Minneapolis after a lingering illness.

She was the mother of Mrs. J. T. Sanborn.

Mrs. G. D. LaBar entertained at cards yesterday afternoon, progressive euchre being played. Mrs. Irma Hartley carried off head prize. Mrs. E. B. McCullough the declare prize.

John Thompson left last night for Stillwater to attend the annual meeting of the state branch of the National Letter Carriers' association, of which he is secretary.

There is to be a bowery dance to take place at Crow Wing on Saturday night and those wishing to participate can make the round trip from Graham's barn for 50c per couple.

Frank Slama, who just bought the Whitford barber shop under Molstad's tailor shop, has just had it renovated inside. Mr. Slama will run his shop strictly first class.

The band stand in the N. P. Park is being overhauled and repaired.

A. J. Jarvis, who went to Texas last fall, has returned to Brainerd and will remain here for the summer.

MINNESOTA'S STORY TO THE WORLD

THE pictures reproduced by the Dispatch during this week are typical of those being used by the Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association in selling the agricultural and recreational advantages of Minnesota to the world.

In magazine and newspaper advertising; in booklets and motion pictures views like these will be reproduced to illustrate and substantiate the story of Minnesota: a story which should bring many new summer visitors, new citizens and new wealth.

These pictures only hint at the advantages of our state. It would take volumes to tell adequately the story of Minnesota's beauties and resources. No region is more richly endowed than our own great state. Fruitful acres yield bountifully. From forests, quarries and the soil come materials to provide shelter. Rich iron mines furnish more than half the nation's steel. Beautiful playgrounds offer unparalleled opportunities for recreation.

The Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association is embarking upon the most extensive campaign in the history of the state to emphasize the opportunities Minnesota offers to farmers, as well as its manifold recreational advantages.

The purpose will be to attract desirable permanent residents and to increase the summer visitors who numbered more than 1,500,000 in 1928, spending in excess of $90,000,000 while in the state.

Every far-sighted citizen is to be called upon during the week to support the Association's program. This newspaper believes that Minnesota's progress and prosperity can be greatly accelerated through the efforts of the Association and is glad to join with hundreds of other newspapers in saying a good word for the best state in the Union.

TOO MUCH EASE

ANOTHER triumph of science over nature, which may induce a bit more tolerance of science by smooth-faced fundamentalists, however the bewhiskered ones rave against it, is the application of electrical power to the safety razor, "which will reduce to the minimum the energy necessary to shave oneself in the morning." In an age when we hear more than we like about overwork killing men who are willing to work, this product of the laboratory of some Edison-minded youth, should be warmly welcomed. It should prolong the lives of the fellows who are doing what has to be done and prove a great boon to millions of leisurely habits who do but little and find that little irksome.

But consider the doctors. They have made some money out of the physical ills of those debilitated by overwork, but as this anachronistic type is rarely found outside the ranks of the unusually capable and devoted, and consequently deservedly rich, there have not been enough cases to go around among the profession. At that, overwork hurts or kills but few in comparison with the multitudes that suffer in consequence of slothfulness. The fellow who takes it too easy "runs down" faster than he who is up and doing all his wakeful hours. Reducing the strain of manual tasks is important, of course, but if we want to be sick the surest way to achieve the end is to loaf more than we should.

The electrically operated safety razor probably will be a very small factor in lowering the tone of the nation's manhood, but it is more or less terrifying as an indication of harm the progress of inventive genius may do.—St. Cloud Times.

WHEN ARE WE OLD?

THIS age-old question is again being debated. Twenty years ago Dr. Osler declared that men of 60 had outlived their usefulness and should be chloroformed. Now comes Dr. Frederick Tilney, professor of neurology at Columbia University, with the statement that men of 60 should be entering the stage of the greatest usefulness, citing the case of Thomas Parr who was active until the age of 130 years and died at 154. Dr. Tilney contends that old age is largely due to the cumulative effects of toxins in the body and states that in many instances the brain has vitality to carry it beyond the 100-year mark.

There is no doubt but that Dr. Tilney is right and Osler wrong. The late James J. Hill, empire builder and founder of one of our great transcontinental railways, did his best work after fifty. Senator Knute Nelson died at the ripe age of 80 and was vigorous mentally and physically to the end. Then there is that veteran editor, Alvah Eastman, who though past 70, is as alert mentally and physically as ever and is daily writing editorials that are copied throughout the Northwest and beyond. These are but a few of the hundreds of cases that might be given to refute the Osler theory, but to make the case yet stronger let us cite Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who at the age of 88 is one of the most valued members of the Supreme Court of the United States; its chief justice, William Howard Taft, who is 71, and then that grand old man, Thomas A. Edison, who is yet hitting on all eight at the age of 82. The modern version is that a woman is as old as she looks and a man is old when he stops looking.—Wadena Pioneer Journal.

ANOTHER CROSS CURRENT

THERE was a time when the large town exerted the trade pull and the small towns flocked to the big place. That seems to be reversed in things theatrical insofar as movies are concerned.

Brainerd people, like all other people impressed with innovations, are anxious to attend the talkies. We have the odd situation existing of a lot of small towns like Bemidji, Aitkin, Staples and Little Falls, all within our vicinity, boasting of the talkies and drawing people from Brainerd.

People who kept account Sunday claim that at least 100 people attended the talkies at Little Falls. Counting the money spent for admissions, ice cream sodas and lunches, Brainerd people spent considerable money in Little Falls which would have stayed in Brainerd if our local theater had the talkies.

MINNESOTA has more than ten thousand lakes and in the Brainerd Lake Region within easy driving distance of our city are at least 700 of them.

MINNESOTA is the nation's greatest butter state, and linked with our flour production makes us the bread and butter state of the Union.

MINNESOTA has an excellent educational system, winning our approval and making us proud of our state.

STAFF POSITIONS FOR '29 ANNOUNCED
AT BRAINONIAN BANQUET, SATURDAYSophs Plan Picnic at Birchdale Friday, May 24

At a meeting held Thursday of last week, Sophomores decided to participate in their last social function of the year, a picnic which will take place Friday, May 24, at Birchdale. The admission fee will be the regular dues plus twenty-five cents extra, which is to take care of the rent of the pavilion. Several committees were appointed to have charge of entertainment, refreshments, and cleaning-up.

The class also decided to send a gift of a box of candy to Philip Nygren a classmate who is now in the hospital in Minneapolis suffering from a cancer of the shoulder. Helen Sheets, Alice Nolan, Janet Kampmann and Arline Hagberg were asked to take care of the preparing of this box.

SENIOR-JUNIOR PICNIC
TO BE AT ROCKY POINT

This Friday is to be the occasion of the annual Senior-Junior picnic. It will be at the same place as it was last year, Rocky Point. Those who have been there know what a lovely spot it is and also, that it is an ideal location for a festival of this sort.

There will be swimming and boating, of course, sports of different kinds, and later dancing. The food will undoubtedly be of the very best. Besides the Seniors, all Juniors and teachers have been cordially invited, also cars. These will be heartily welcomed, especially the later. Bring your swimming suit and your good-natured holiday mood, and the rest will be in capable hands. Another good time is absolutely guaranteed, or "your money back."

Mr. Wyett Speaks to Commercial Club Wed.

"There's nothing in the world that we can't have if we want it bad enough," stated Mr. Wyett in speaking to the Commercial club at their regular meeting last Wednesday evening. Mr. Wyett's talk was very beneficial and instructive and the members of the Commercial club are very grateful to him for the benefits they derived from it.

A short program, consisting of harmonica selections by Musto Pajala and violin solos by Marcella Wolleat, accompanied by Florence Nesheim, was given; after which Miss Tornstrom talked on health habits essential to obtain and hold a good job and that the work we did here in school depended greatly upon the kind of work we would get after we had left school.

Miss Herwig also gave a short and interesting talk on the hundreds of boys and girls that enter the business world without any idea about what they were going to do and therefore did not make good business men and women.

After the meeting the members adjourned to the main hall where buncos was played, after which a light lunch was served.

EXCHANGE

He: I must be careful about politeness at the movies after this.
She: What now?

He: I stood up to let a woman pass me and she slipped into my seat.
The Glenconian-Glencoe, Minn.

By the way, congratulations to the Tech for having won an all-American rating at the N. S. P. A. convention.

Some of the faculty at Glencoe recently held a "Kid" party, so we read. We can go them one better here. Our faculty doesn't need to dress up for some of them certainly look that way but we assure you that they don't act that way when it comes to giving us lessons.

Through the efforts of Mr. Medbury, athletic supervisor of Crosby-iron and Mrs. A. C. Weber of Brainerd, a girls' tennis tournament between representatives of these two cities has been arranged to take place latter part of May. The tournament will consist of sets of both doubles and singles. Four girls have already been selected to participate, who are as follows: Louise Clausen, Dorothy Kinney, Doris Geist and Alice Nolan. Two more girls are expected to take part but as yet they have not been selected.

STAFF MEMBERS ENJOY BANQUET AT COTTAGE ON GULL LAKE

The entire Brainonian staff, both weekly and Annual, journeyed out to Gull Lake on Gull Lake, late Saturday afternoon for their yearly banquet. The evening was a glorious time.

Miss True, Miss Tornstrom and Miss Herwig, together with two members of the staff, Edith Heald and Lois White, went out at two o'clock to set tables, and to start preparing the banquet. Then at four o'clock the rest of the part arrived via several cars belonging to one or two boy-members, or perhaps their respective dads.

The tables were prettily decorated with blue candles, nut cups and place cards. After R. Olmsted had administered the final touches to the dinner, tasting this and sampling that, this noble repast was served, with much gusto—and consumed in like manner. The menu offered a delicious meat-raft, creamed potatoes, vegetable salad, buttered rolls, coffee and apple pie a la mode. Everything was beautifully cooked and served, and greatly enjoyed by all.

Of course, Richard Ebert was toastmaster, and a very admirable one, too. Miss Tornstrom and Miss True, art adviser, were called on between courses, and responded briefly and humorously, thanking the staff members for their helpful cooperation throughout the year and left a parting word for the Seniors who will of course, not be with the Brainonian next year. William McClenahan, editor of the annual, said a few words, and also "Dicky", who presented the Senior staff members with beautiful silver pins in appreciation of their services.

Staff Appointments Announced
After the banquet, Miss Herwig, one of the Brainonian advisers, gave her "speech," during the course of which, she announced the promotions and several new appointments, for the coming year.

In order to make it possible for the biggest and best Brainonian, both annual and weekly to appear in 1929-1930, staff positions for the coming year were announced at the banquet. The adviser made it clear that these appointments are but tentative and are subject to competition from anyone who wish to write for either the annual or the weekly. There is nothing in the nature of a closed corporation in connection with these appointments which come as a recognition of work done during the past school year, said Miss Herwig.

The Brainonian staff for 1929-30 is as follows:
Annual Editor—Richard Ebert.
Editors-in-Chief—Roger Kleven, Zane Smith.

Special Writer—David Weber.
Activities—Evelyn Grimstad.
Feature—Reynold Larson.
Humor—Janet Kampmann.
Sports—Edman Jernberg.
Senior Reporter—Ross Olmsted.
Junior Reporter—Marie Hoffbauer.
Sophomore Reporter—Clara Grimstad.

Freshman Reporter—?
Exchange—Mildred Johnson.
Alumni Editor—Helen Sheets.
Girls' Athletics—Alice Nolan.
Classroom Reporter—Margaret Vadnais.

General Reporters—Stuart Patterson, Edwin Olson, Bernice Steinfeldt, Mary Hawkins, Kenneth Stimson.

The advisers, Miss Tornstrom and Miss Herwig, urged all in the school as well as the new staff who are interested to consider themselves invited to write for next year's Brainonian and to compete for staff positions.

As the feasters left the table, the "clean-up", and "dishes" committees were announced, and the fact that marshmallows awaited them in front of the great fire-place, also a nice little portable "Vic", on the front porch. Staff members took the hints, both of them. Later, much later, in fact, the cars slowly and reluctantly dwindled back towards Brainerd.

May 15 is the date set for the concert to be given by the Girls Glee club and the Octet, assisted by the high school orchestra and Mildred Prentice, reader, at the First Methodist church at eight o'clock. This concert by the combined musical forces of the high school promises to be the best effort of the school year, and the public is requested to save next Wednesday for this important event.

A detailed program will appear in next week's Brainonian.

YE EDITOR

We take great pleasure at this time calling your particular attention to the new Staff appointments awarded at the annual Brainonian banquet last Saturday evening. These appointments are the result of a year's faithful and diligent labor on the part of these particular students and each is found to be well suited for the particular position assigned to him. We trust that next year our new staff will put forth their greatest efforts and best ability to make our paper one that any student would be proud to call his own.

ALICE NOLAN DEFEATS
DORIS GEIST IN FINALS

Midst the cheers of the frozen spectators, Alice Nolan defeated Doris Geist for the girls tennis championship of the school with a score of 6-2 and 6-4. The girls played a very fast game—possibly because they had to do so to keep from freezing to the court. Both girls tried a very powerful game and there was very little "sawing" of the ball. From the garbs of the rooters one would think it was a football game instead of a tennis tournament. The referee, Miss Herwig, wore a fur coat; Helen Sheets, score keeper wore mittens, two sweaters and a coat and someone was spotted wearing overshoes.

Hi-Y Elects Clarence
Holden New President

The annual election of officers took place at last week's Hi-Y meeting. Last year's president, Gaylord Kinney presided over the meeting. Those elected were:

President—Clarence Holden.
Vice President—Joe Heald.
Secretary—Carl Holvick.
Treasurer—Claude Holden.
Dicky Ebert gave a report of what he heard and saw at the Hi-Y conference at Willmar which he attended as a delegate. He told of suggestions made how a club can be of service to the school.

SHORTHAND STUDENTS
RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

The returns from the Order of Gregg Artist National Contest were received by Miss Lord last week.

This contest is conducted each year by the Credential Department of Gregg Writers to encourage the development of skillful shorthand writing. Although Brainerd did not receive the highest honors, they were awarded the Red Seal Diploma because of the excellent work done by some of the students.

Aileen Barnes received a pin for writing the best paper in the Brainerd club. Other members receiving "Honorable Mentions" are: Selma Nygaard, Lorraine Enemark, Edith Frost.

AMATEUR ENTERTAINERS PLEASE
AUDIENCE AT U. C. T. HALL FRIDAYTALENTED STUDENTS PERFORM
FOR FULL HOUSE IN ANNUAL FINANCIAL DRIVE

Without a doubt, the greatest amateur "Vodvil" circuit of the season, visited Brainerd last Friday evening, May 3rd—playing at the U. C. T. auditorium to a full house and generously allowing the proceeds to be collected for the benefit of the local high school annual, the Brainonian. All of the stars were well-known to the audience which fact contributed to the cordial reception given to the evening's performance.

Malcolm Ellison completely won the audience by his masterly and clever shouldering of responsibilities as Master of Ceremonies. He discharged his duties so successfully that he had his listeners in the rarest of moods for each act as it came.

As a means of sending the people away "more educated than when they came," Mr. Ellison first introduced a one-act comedy, "Sauce for the Gossips." David Weber and Ruth Schwartz acted extremely well in the roles of the fond but corrective parents of two slang-crazy young people, Ross Olmsted and Alice Peterson. Richard Ebert handled very well the part of Ross's college friend, and every one found Ruth Kunitz quite delightful in the role of the flapper grandmother.

Following the play was a series of Vodvil acts purposed to bring tears (of joy) to one's eyes and so they did. With Male, employing his every ounce of winning personality and dryest humor in introducing each skit and with the peppy acting of artists themselves, this section of performance went over strong.

"The Old Homestead," the first vodvil act, starred Hugh McCaffrey as the villain (and what a formidable one he did make); Richard Ebert was the young hero; Helen Bane, the heroine, Katrinka Von Cabbage; Ellwood Johnson, Papa; Katherine Hagberg, Mama; Emil Hendrickson, the parson; and Zane Smith, Elocutionist.

"The Hand on the Court Room Door" was played by Carl Zapffe, the judge; Roger Callahan, the defendant; Louise Clausen, the plaintiff, and Arnold Jensen, the prosecuting attorney. Oh, the difficulties of the Roger Callahans in the back row at a good show!

Who can forget Alfred Abrahamson, the squeaky-voiced watchman (whose lantern wasn't lit) playing in "The Wreck," with Roger Kleven, the plaintiff, David Weber, the M. and I. attorney, and Carl Zapffe, judge. This was the act where the train slowed up coming into Brainerd so that the large delegation from Pequot might become accustomed to the bright lights!

"To the Rescue" featured David Weber playing the hero (who couldn't saddle his mount) with Zane Smith in charge of the fort.

Lloyd Whitlock, the Great Mystic, held his audience spellbound with his magic tricks, and no one missed his $100 bills either!

"Hamlet", with profuse apologies to Shakespeare, cast George and Hugh McCaffrey and Emil Hendrickson as guards; Carl Zapffe, Hamlet; Billy McClenahan, Laertes; Clarence Dutkowski, Polonius; Rose Lukens, Ophelia; Orris Larson, the king; Mildred Prentice, the queen; Allen Johnson, the ghost; and Ralph Anderson, the perfectly bored stage hand. The audience seemed to be blood thirsty for they hailed with glee the duel between Carl and Billy which left them both dead.

At last the mystery of "Sister Alice and Her Beau" is cleared up. Alfred and Alice Englehart are none other than our own Al. and an improvised dancing partner, a graceful, big doll.

The curtain slowly rose on the third section of the performance, a perfect art of minstrels and a con-town orchestra. With difficulty, Ralph Anderson, Allen Johnson, Orris Larson and Harry Goederz were recognized as end men, with Ralph Hallquist, Joe Heald, Edman Jernberg, Monroe Kelly, Burton Rice, Alfred Englehart, George McCaffrey and Allen Evans as singers and Mr. LaMeter, director. The orchestra was composed of: Billy McClenahan, Howard Gile, Malcolm Lammon, Don Geist, Jerome Behme, Male, Ellison, Clarence Holden, Victor Bourgeois and Harold Moe. Carl Zapffe acted as Interlocutor who received the brunt of the darkies' jokes. The solos by Mr. LaMeter and H. Goederz and the choruses were encored repeatedly; proving the appreciation of the listeners.

The whole program was run off without a hitch due to the diligent practice on the part both of the actors and teachers in charge. Miss Mathis coached the play, Mr. Elden and Miss Tornstrom provided the vodvil section, and Mr. LaMeter turned out the minstrels. Those taking part may feel well repaid for their trouble and may feel assured of the success of the program from the wonderful turn-out and the most enthusiastic praise by this audience of their performance.

Last, but by no means least, thanks are due Mr. Newman of the Patek Furniture Co., who is always more than generous with the contents of his store.

Schools to Compete in
Annual Meet Wed., May 8

About 60 grade school girls coached by Lorraine Palmer and Geraldine White, at the Lincoln school; Hilda Dyvik and Almira Christenson, Harrison; Helen Bane, the Whitler; and Borghild Olson and Agnes Shields, the Lowell, will compete in the annual track meet at Gregory Park, Wednesday, May 8. Edythe Titus and Myrtle Hegstad will act as officials.

Among the events will be the 50 yard dash, basketball goal throw, and throw for distance, baseball throw for accuracy, potato race and hurdle relay. Contestants are limited to two in the singles events and six in the relays. No student may enter more than three events.

MRS. WHITE REVIEWS
'JAPANESE INVASION'

Mrs. Henry White reviewed Jesse Steiner's book on the Japanese problem in this country, "The Japanese Invasion" before the fourth period Social Problems class last Friday morning. Mrs. White informed her hearers that Mr. Steiner's book was written before a serious attempt to check Japanese immigration had been made by the American people and that therefore it took a very pessimistic attitude toward the situation. However, the speaker made it very clear that a vigilance must not relax for many reasons which are obvious to those who are interested in the subject.

The review was the second in a series of two given before this class on the subject of immigration, both of which have been instructive to a marked degree. The class is very grateful to Mrs. White for the time and energy she expended to help them understand this problem the better.

Senior Chemists Observe
New School in Making

Mr. La Meter's seventh period chemistry class went on its third excursion last Thursday. A few minutes were spent at the tie plant, but as time was short, several of the most interesting processes were not observed. The students then went to see the new high school in construction. At this point of building, there are innumerable points of interest to "budding chemists," and everyone felt that the time was well spent. All these people have gone to school under unfavorable conditions so they really appreciate having a new, modern school building in Brainerd. They only regret that they are seniors and cannot have the privilege of attending it.

On Wednesday, the fifth period class went through the paper mill.

Report of Conferences
Given at Tri-Hi Monday

Alice Peterson and Alberta Smith, who were the delegates at the Tri-Hi Girls' Conference held in Duluth last week, were the principal speakers at the regular Monday meeting of the local Tri-Hi organization. These girls gave the club many new ideas which they obtained from the convention meetings.

Doris Geist, Amy Markham, Helen and Kathryn Sheets, and Mildred E. Johnson were the hostesses who served salmon and pea salad, veal loaf, potatoes, parker house rolls, sweet pickles, coffee and cake to the girls present.

Plans for a week end party at Gull Lake some time in the near future were discussed as the concluding item of business. repeatedly; proving the appreciation of the listeners.

The whole program was run off without a hitch due to the diligent practice on the part both of the actors and teachers in charge. Miss Mathis coached the play, Mr. Elden and Miss Tornstrom provided the vodvil section, and Mr. LaMeter turned out the minstrels. Those taking part may feel well repaid for their trouble and may feel assured of the success of the program from the wonderful turn-out and the most enthusiastic praise by this audience of their performance.

MINNESOTA'S STORY TO THE WORLD

THE pictures reproduced by the Dispatch during this week are typical of those being used by the Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association in selling the agricultural and recreational advantages of Minnesota to the world.

In magazine and newspaper advertising; in booklets and motion pictures views like these will be reproduced to illustrate and substantiate the story of Minnesota: a story which should bring many new summer visitors, new citizens and new wealth.

These pictures only hint at the advantages of our state. It would take volumes to tell adequately the story of Minnesota's beauties and resources. No region is more richly endowed than our own great state. Fruitful acres yield bountifully. From forests, quarries and the soil come materials to provide shelter. Rich iron mines furnish more than half the nation's steel. Beautiful playgrounds offer unparalleled opportunities for recreation. The Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association is embarking upon the most extensive campaign in the history of the state to emphasize the opportunities Minnesota offers to farmers, as well as its manifold recreational advantages.

The purpose will be to attract desirable permanent residents and to increase the summer visitors who numbered more than 1,500,000 in 1928, spending in excess of $90,000,000 while in the state.

Every far-sighted citizen is to be called upon during the week to support the Association's program. This newspaper believes that Minnesota's progress and prosperity can be greatly accelerated through the efforts of the Association and is glad to join with hundreds of other newspapers in saying a good word for the best state in the Union.

TOO MUCH EASE

ANOTHER triumph of science over nature, which may induce a bit more tolerance of science by smooth-faced fundamentalists, however the bewhiskered ones rave against it, is the application of electrical power to the safety razor, "which will reduce to the minimum the energy necessary to shave oneself in the morning." In an age when we hear more than we like about overwork killing men who are willing to work, this product of the laboratory of some Edison-minded youth, should be warmly welcomed. It should prolong the lives of the fellows who are doing what has to be done and prove a great boon to millions of leisurely habits who do but little and find that little irksome.

But consider the doctors. They have made some money out of the physical ills of those debilitated by overwork, but as this anachronistic type is rarely found outside the ranks of the unusually capable and devoted, and consequently deservedly rich, there have not been enough cases to go around among the profession. At that, overwork hurts or kills but few in comparison with the multitudes that suffer in consequence of slothfulness. The fellow who takes it too easy "runs down" faster than he who is up and doing all his wakeful hours. Reducing the strain of manual tasks is important, of course, but if we want to be sick the surest way to achieve the end is to loaf more than we should.

The electrically operated safety razor probably will be a very small factor in lowering the tone of the nation's manhood, but it is more or less terrifying as an indication of harm the progress of inventive genius may do.—St. Cloud Times.

WHEN ARE WE OLD?

THIS age-old question is again being debated. Twenty years ago Dr. Osler declared that men of 60 had outlived their usefulness and should be chloroformed. Through the efforts of Mr. Medbury, athletic supervisor of Crosby-Ironton and Mrs. A. C. Weber of Brainerd, a girls' tennis tournament between representatives of these two cities has been arranged to take place latter part of May. The tournament will consist of sets of both doubles and singles. Four girls have already been selected to participate, who are as follows: Louise Clausen, Dorothy Kinney, Doris Geist and Alice Nolan. Two more girls are expected to take part but as yet they have not been selected.

STAFF MEMBERS ENJOY BANQUET AT COTTAGE ON GULL LAKE

The entire Brainonian staff, both weekly and Annual, journeyed out to Gull Lake on Gull Lake, late Saturday afternoon for their bi-yearly banquet. Everyone who had a glorious time.

Miss True, Miss Tornstrom and Miss Herwig, together with two members of the staff, Edith Heald and Lois White, went out at two o'clock to set tables, and to start preparing the banquet. Then at four o'clock the rest of the party arrived via several cars belonging to one or two boy-members, or perhaps their respective dads.

The tables were prettily decorated with blue candles, nut cups and place cards. After R. Olmsted had administered the final touches to the dinner, tasting this and sampling that, this noble repast was served, with much gusto—and consumed in like manner. The menu offered a delicious meat-leaf, creamed potatoes, vegetable salad, buttered rolls, coffee and apple pie a la mode. Everything was beautifully cooked and served, and greatly enjoyed by all.

Of course, Richard Ebert was toastmaster, and a very admirable one, too. Miss Tornstrom and Miss True, art adviser, were called on between courses, and responded briefly and humorously, thanking the staff members for their helpful cooperation throughout the year and left a parting word for the Seniors who will of course, not be with the Brainonian next year. William McClenahan, editor of the annual, said a few words, and also "Dicky", who presented the Senior staff members with beautiful silver pins in appreciation of their services.

Staff Appointments Announced
After the banquet, Miss Herwig, one of the Brainonian advisers, gave her "speech" during the course of which, she announced the promotions and several new appointments, for the coming year.

In order to make it possible for the biggest and best Brainonian, both annual and weekly to appear in 1929-1930, staff positions for the coming year were announced at the banquet. The adviser made it clear that these appointments are but tentative and are subject to competition from anyone who wish to write for either the annual or the weekly. There is nothing in the nature of a closed corporation in connection with these appointments which come as a recognition of work done during the past school year, said Miss Herwig.

The Brainonian staff for 1929-30 is as follows:
Annual Editor—Richard Ebert.
Editors-in-Chief—Roger Kleven, Zane Smith.

Special Writer—David Weber.
Activities—Evelyn Grimstad.
Feature—Reynold Larson.
Humor—Janet Kampmann.
Sports—Edman Jernberg.
Senior Reporter—Ross Olmsted.
Junior Reporter—Marie Hoffbauer.
Sophomore Reporter—Clara Grimstad.

Freshman Reporter—?
Exchange—Mildred Johnson.
Alumni Editor—Helen Sheets.
Girls' Athletics—Alice Nolan.
Classroom Reporter—Margaret Vadnais.

General Reporters—Stuart Patterson, Edwin Olson, Bernice Steinfeldt, Mary Hawkins, Kenneth Stinson.

The advisers, Miss Tornstrom and Miss Herwig, urged all in the school as well as the new staff who are interested to consider themselves invited to write for next year's Brainonian and to compete for staff positions.

As the feasters left the table, the "clean-up", and "dishes" committees were announced, and the fact that marshmallows awaited them in front of the great fire-place, also a nice little portable "Vic", on the front porch. Staff members took the hints, both of them. Later, much later, in fact, the cars slowly and reluctantly dwindled back towards Brainerd.

May 15 is the date set for the concert to be given by the Girls Glee club and the Octet, assisted by the high school orchestra and Mildred Prentice, reader, at the First Methodist church at eight o'clock. This concert by the combined musical forces of the high school promises to be the best effort of the school year, and the public is requested to save next Wednesday for this important event.

A detailed program will appear in next week's Brainonian.

YE EDITOR

We take great pleasure at this time calling your particular attention to the new Staff appointments awarded at the annual Brainonian banquet last Saturday evening. These appointments are the result of a year's faithful and diligent labor on the part of these particular students and each is found to be well suited for the particular position assigned to him. We trust that next year our new staff will put forth its greatest efforts and best ability to make our paper one that any student would be proud to call his own.

ALICE NOLAN DEFEATS
DORIS GEIST IN FINALS

Midst the cheers of the frozen spectators, Alice Nolan defeated Doris Geist for the girls tennis championship of the school with a score of 6-2 and 6-4. The girls played a very fast game—possibly because they had to do so to keep from freezing to the court. Both girls tried a very careful game and there was very little spectacular play. From the garbs of the rooters one would think it was a football game instead of a tennis tournament. The referee, Miss Herwig, wore a fur coat; Helen Sheets, score keeper wore mittens, two sweaters and a coat and someone was spotted wearing overshoes.

Hi-Y Elects Clarence
Holden New President

The annual election of officers took place at last week's Hi-Y meeting. Last year's president, Gaylord Kinney presided over the meeting. Those elected were:

President—Clarence Holden.
Vice President—Joe Heald.
Secretary—Carl Holvick.
Treasurer—Claude Holden.
Dicky Ebert gave a report of what he heard and saw at the Hi-Y conference at Willmar which he attended as a delegate. He told of suggestions made how a club can be of service to the school.

SHORTHAND STUDENTS
RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

The returns from the Order of Gregg Artist National Contest were received by Miss Lord last week.

This contest is conducted each year by the Credential Department of Gregg Writers to encourage the development of skillful shorthand writing. Although Brainerd did not receive the highest honors, they were awarded the Red Seal Diploma because of the excellent work done by some of the students.

Alleen Barnes received a pin for writing the best paper in the Brainerd club. Other members receiving "Honorable Mentions" are: Selma Nygaard, Lorraine Enemark, Edith Frost.

The following members passed a test and received a certificate which makes them eligible for membership in this club:

AMATEUR ENTERTAINERS PLEASE
AUDIENCE AT U. C. T. HALL FRIDAYTALENTED STUDENTS PERFORM
FOR FULL HOUSE IN ANNUAL FINANCIAL DRIVE

Without a doubt, the greatest amateur "vodvil" circuit of the season, visited Brainerd last Friday evening, May 3rd—playing at the U. C. T. auditorium to a full house and generously allowing the proceeds to be collected for the benefit of the local high school annual, the Brainonian. All of the stars were well-known to the audience which fact contributed to the cordial reception given to the evening's performance.

Malcolm Ellison completely won the audience by his masterly and clever shouldering of responsibilities as Master of Ceremonies. He discharged his duties so successfully that he had his listeners in the rarest of moods for each act as it came.

As a means of sending the people away more educated than when they came, Mr. Ellison first introduced a one-act comedy, "Sauce for the Gossings." David Weber and Ruth Schwartz acted extremely well in the roles of the fond but corrective parents of two slang-crazy young people, Ross Olmsted and Alice Peterson. Richard Ebert handled very well the part of Ross's college friend, and every one found Ruth Kunitz quite delightful in the role of the flapper grandmother.

Following the play was a series of vodvil acts purposed to bring tears (of joy) to one's eyes and so they did. With Male, employing his every ounce of winning personality and dryest humor in introducing each skit and with the peppy acting of artists themselves, this section of performance went over strong.

"The Old Homestead," the first vodvil act, starred Hugh McCaffrey as the villain (and what a formidable one he did make); Richard Ebert was the young hero; Helen Bane, the heroine, Katrinka Von Cabbage, Ellwood Johnson, Papa; Katherine Hagberg, Mama; Emil Hendrickson, the parson; and Zane Smith, Elucutionist.

"The Hand on the Court Room Door" was played by Carl Zapffe, the judge; Roger Callahan, the defendant; Louise Clausen, the plaintiff, and Arnold Jensen, the prosecuting attorney. Oh, the difficulties of the Roger Callahans in the back row at a good show!

Who can forget Alfred Abrahamson, the squeaky-voiced watchman (whose lantern wasn't lit) playing in "The Wreck," with Roger Kleven, the plaintiff, David Weber, the M. and I. attorney, and Carl Zapffe, judge. This was the act where the train slowed up coming into Brainerd so that the large delegation from Pequot might become accustomed to the bright lights!

"To the Rescue" featured David Weber playing the hero (who couldn't saddle his mount) with Zane Smith in charge of the fort.

Lloyd Whitlock, the Great Mystic, held his audience spellbound with his magic tricks, and no one missed his $100 bills either!

"Hamlet," with profuse apologies to Shakespeare, cast George and Hugh McCaffrey and Emil Hendrickson as guards; Carl Zapffe, Hamlet; Billy McClenahan, Laertes; Clarence Dutkowski, Polonius; Rose Lukens, Ophelia; Orris Larson, the king; Mildred Prentice, the queen; Allen Johnson, the ghost; and Ralph Anderson, the perfectly bored stage hand. The audience seemed to be blood thirsty for they hailed with glee the duel between Carl and Billy which left them both dead.

At last the mystery of "Sister Alice and Her Beau" is cleared up. Alfred and Alice Englehart are none other than our own Al. and an improvised dancing partner, a graceful, big doll.

The curtain slowly rose on the third section of the performance, a perfect act of minstrels and a coon-town orchestra. With difficulty, Ralph Anderson, Allen Johnson, Orris Larson and Harry Goederz were recognized as end men, with Ralph Anderson, George McCaffrey and Allen Evans as singers and Mr. LaMeter, director. The orchestra was composed of: Billy McClenahan, Howard Gile, Malcolm Lammon, Don Geist, Jerome Behme, Male, Ellison, Clarence Holden, Victor Bourgoise and Harold Moe. Carl Zapffe acted as interlocutor who received the brunt of the darkies' jokes. The solos by Mr. LaMeter and H. Goederz and the choruses were encored repeatedly; proving the appreciation of the listeners.

Schools to Compete in
Annual Meet Wed., May 8

About 60 grade school girls coached by Lorraine Palmer and Geraldine White, at the Lincoln school, Hilda Dybvick and Almira Christenson, Harrison; Helen Bane, the Whittier; and Borghild Olson and Agnes Shields, the Lowell, will compete in the annual track meet at Gregory Park, Wednesday, May 8. Edythe Titus and Myrtle Hegstad will act as officials.

Among the events will be the 50 yard dash, basketball goal throw, and throw for distance, baseball throw for accuracy, potato race and hurdle relay. Contestants are limited to two in the sprints events and six in the relays. No student may enter more than three events.

MRS. WHITE REVIEWS
'JAPANESE INVASION'

Mrs. Henry White reviewed Jesse Steiner's book on the Japanese problem in this country, "The Japanese Invasion" before the fourth period Local Problems class last Friday morning. Mrs. White informed her hearers that Mr. Steiner's book was written before a serious attempt to check Japanese immigration had been made by the American people and that therefore it took a very pessimistic attitude toward the situation. However, the speaker made it very clear that a vigilance must not relax for many reasons which are obvious to those who are interested in the subject.

The review was the second in a series of two given before this class on the subject of immigration, both of which have been instructive to a marked degree. The class is very grateful to Mrs. White for the time and energy she expended to help them understand this problem the better.

Senior Chemists Observe
New School in Making

Mr. La Meter's seventh period chemistry class went on its third excursion last Thursday. A few minutes were spent at the plant, but as time was short, several of the most interesting processes were not observed. The students then went to see the new high school in construction. At this point of building, there are innumerable points of interest to "budding chemists," and everyone felt that the time was well spent. All these people have gone to school under unfavorable conditions so they really appreciate having a new, modern school building in Brainerd. They only regret that they are seniors and cannot have the privilege of attending it.

On Wednesday, the fifth period class went through the paper mill.

Report of Conferences
Given at Tri-Hi Monday

Alice Peterson and Alberta Smith, who were the delegates at the Tri-Hi Girls' Conference held in Duluth last week, were the principal speakers at the regular Monday meeting of the local Tri-Hi organization. These girls gave the club many new ideas which they obtained from the convention meetings.

Doris Geist, Amy Markham, Helen and Kathryn Sheets, and Mildred E. Johnson were the hostesses who served salmon and pea salad, veal loaf, potatoes, parker house rolls, sweet pickles, coffee and cake to the girls present.

Plans for a week end party at Gull Lake some time in the near future were discussed as the concluding item of business.

Last, but by no means least, thanks are due Mr. Newman of the Patek Furniture Co. who is always more than generous with the contents of his store.

NEW YORK YANKEES 'MURDERER'S ROW' WHACKING BALL

ARE CONFIDENT OF SOON LEADING AMERICAN LEAGUE

MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF 3 GAME SERIES WITH CHICAGO WHITE SOX

IN 53 TIMES AT BAT, RUTH, GEHRIG, MEUSEL, LAZZERI SOCK 26 HITS

By BERT DEMBY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, May 7.—With "murderer's row" whacking the ball in great style, the New York Yankees moved on to St. Louis today, confident they will be leading the league before their present western invasion is ended.

Besides taking with them a clean sweep of the three-game series with the White Sox, the Yanks carried some greatly improved batting averages.

In 53 times at bat, the four men of the "row"—Ruth, Gehrig, Meusel and Lazzeri—socked out 26 hits, for an average approximating .500. Nine of the hits were home runs, distributed as follows:

Gehrig 3, Ruth 2, Lazzeri 2; Meusel 2.

The average of the entire team for the series was slightly better than .333, gained from 40 hits out of 119 times at bat.

That the old fighting spirit is still there was evidenced in yesterday's game when a late Sox rally tied the score. The Yanks came back in the tenth with four runs, in the style peculiar to them. Koenig tripled.

Figuring it better to pitch to anyone other than Ruth or Gehrig, Young Bob Weiland walked both, intending to get Meusel. Manager Blackburne of the Sox decided to send in Al Thomas, one of his aces at this point and Meusel greeted Thomas with a home run.

That was the story throughout the series. If Ruth were walked, Gehrig slammed one. If Gehrig walked Meusel slammed one and if all three got on Lazzeri socked the ball.

The only weakness the Yanks showed here centered around pitching. Pipgras hurled the best game but the Sox nicked him for ten safe blows.

However, a team that averages approximately nine runs per game can get along without shut-out hurling.

The Northeast Brainerd baseball team inaugurated the season here on Sunday by decisively outplaying Pequot, winning on the Koering grounds by the score of 14 to 5.

Jarboe and Richmond took turns at the pitching mound and had no trouble in holding down Pequot's reputed heavy sluggers.

The Pequot team is one of eight in the Northwoods Baseball Association league in which a Brainerd picked team is represented.

Northeast has already made a bid to join the Lake Region league composed at present of Little Falls, Uptala, Swanville, Motley and Pierz.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Pinky Whitney, Phillies' third baseman, who singled with the bases filled in the ninth inning, giving Philadelphia a 2 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Steve Swetonic, Pittsburgh rookie, had the better of Percy Jones in a mound duel and the Pirates beat the Braves, 4 to 3. Both teams scored two runs in the ninth. The Waner brothers starred at bat and in the field.

Only home runs counted at the Polo grounds and the New York Giants broke their losing streak by hitting three circuit clouts and defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 1. Terry, Jackson and Fallis accounted for the Giants' three runs with homers and Wilson hit one for the Cards.

Collecting fifteen hits and stealing six bases, Brooklyn beat Cincinnati, 12 to 3. Five Cincinnati errors also aided the Robins. Bill Clark went the route for the Robins, pitching well behind a safe lead.

Bob Meusel's home run with the bases filled in the tenth inning gave the New York Yankees their third straight victory over the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 6.

Harry Heilmann's hitting featured Detroit's third straight win over the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 4.

Ten runs in the fifth inning enabled the Washington Senators to beat the Cleveland Indians, 13 to 5.

Wet grounds prevented the game between the Athletics and Browns.

INCLUDES ALL AMERICAN PROS. SHOT 162 OR LESS

R. D. MATHIESON, EDINBURGH AMATEUR, SCORED A HOLE-IN-ONE

LEO DIEGEL, WHITE PLAINS PROFESSIONAL, SHOT 70 AND 74

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—(U.P.)—One hundred and eight golfers, including all the American professionals, qualified in the British Open Golf championship here today with aggregates of 162 or better.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—(U.P.)—R. D. Mathieson, Edinburgh amateur golfer and former boy champion scored a hole-in-one while playing in the qualifying round of the British open today.

Mathieson's prize shot was on the fourth hole of the Muirfield course, 180 yards.

His score for the first 18 holes of the qualifying round yesterday was 93.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—Leo Diegel, White Plains professional, took the lead over the qualifying field in the British Open Golf championship today with an aggregate of 144 strokes.

The American P. G. A. and Canadian champion shot a brilliant 70 over the championship Muirfield course, to add to his worthy 74 in the rain at Gullane yesterday.

By ARCH DODGERS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., and Walter Hagen, defending champion, two of the American favorites in the British Open Golf championship qualified today with aggregates of 154 strokes, but the best early score of the day was turned in by Curil Tolley, husky British amateur, who shot 150.

A strong wind swept the seaside courses of Muirfield and Gullane, but the terrific rains of the opening day had ceased, and the scoring improved somewhat until it was estimated that better than 160 might be needed to qualify.

This estimate left Jim Barnes, former champion, in danger with his aggregate of 160. "Wild Bill" Melhorn, in whose play there is interest because he was left off the American Ryder Cup team and came here independently, had a qualifying aggregate of 155.

Playing the Muirfield course, over which the championship proper will start tomorrow, Horton Smith shot steady golf, going out in 38 and coming home in 38, for a total of 154. The youngster drove well but missed several short putts on tricky greens.

Johnny Golden, New Jersey pro, added a 77 today to his 79 of Monday for an aggregate of 156 to join the Americans who qualified.

Despite the improved weather conditions and the rapidly drying greens, Al Espinosa, American pro, needed 81 today for an aggregate of 161, which left him far from certain of qualifying.

Gene Sarazen, who finished second in last year's championship, came back gallantly today. The little Italian-American had 81 yesterday, a dangerous start, but he shot a 75 today, and his 156 puts him into the championship.

Lindbergh Paints Picture of Aeronautics in America

Predicts Safe and Regular Air Passenger Service Within Year or Two

AMERICA'S airports, in order to properly serve the ultimate object of aviation, must be located within a few minutes of the center of the cities they are to serve, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh declared before a joint committee of Congress considering the selection of a municipal airport for the National Capital.

He emphasized strongly his feeling that America is sorely deficient in the matter of airport development, and that this deficiency is hampering the progress of commercial air travel.

Airports should have concrete base and asphalt surface runways, should be carefully and evenly sodded, and should be equipped with every possible facility for passenger comfort, he explained.

Colonel Lindbergh painted a glowing picture of the future of aeronautics in America, pointing out that there is more private flying in this country at the present time than in all of Europe combined.

In connection with the location of airports, Colonel Lindbergh expressed the belief that proximity to the business section is the most important item to be taken into consideration.

"If the airport is an hour's ride from the city," he explained, "it takes away most of the advantage of flying time; on a trip from New York or Philadelphia to Washington, the time required going to and from distant landing fields would add so much to the flying time that there would be little advantage over the railroad time."

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH (International Newsreel)

"Would a distance of 20 minutes be much of a handicap?" he was asked.

"That's reasonable," he replied, "but it would be better if it were possible to have the field even closer."

Lindbergh predicted that in a year or two there will be safe, regular, direct passenger service between New York and Rio de Janeiro or Buenos Aires. He pointed out that even now there is regular service between Miami and Fair-

Inferiority Complexes

Johnny KUCK

© 1929, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

By QUIN HALL

INFERIORITY complexes have figured in sports ever since the use of the term has become popularized. In almost every game known there are certain participants who fare much better in training or practice than in actual competition.

These fellows are world-beaters when there are no spectators or no rivals around, but put them in actual competition before the galleries and they must get the idea in their minds that they are no good, else they would sweep everything before them.

A lot of these fellows, however, eventually conquer their jinx before it is too late to make the headlines. Take the case of the bashful young Kansan, Johnny Kuck. Johnny may have had to go abroad to turn the trick but he most certainly turned it.

For a good many months prior to the Olympic games at Amsterdam last Summer, the critics had been saying that young Kuck usually did his best work in practice. His specialty, as you know, is toss in the shot and, even when the final tryouts for the team were held at the Harvard Stadium, the bashful star, who was hurling iron under the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, had an attack of stage fright, or "buck fever," or inferiority complex, and barely succeeded in making the grade. In view of his showing at Cambridge, little was expected of Johnny at the Olympics, despite the fact that he ranked as one of our most promising athletes.

Prior to the Cambridge meeting, Kuck had gone through a tough experience at the sesquicentennial games at Philadelphia. He lost repeatedly to Herb Schwarze, but after the crowd had left the grounds, Johnny threw the shot further than anyone had during the games. As a result of Kuck's "buck fever" performance in actual competition, "Hard" Brix, of the University of Washington, was looked upon as the point gainer for the U. S. in the shot put at Amsterdam, with Kuck a possible second or third placer. While Kuck had cast the iron much farther than Brix, Johnny's best mark had been made in practice.

But what happened at Amsterdam? The bashful Kansan kicked his jinx for a loop and outdistanced his world's rivals in the Olympic games. Now he is being hailed as the world's greatest and is the holder of the accepted world's record of 52 feet 11-16 inches. Not only this, but it is figured that, having mastered his inferiority complex and realizing that after all he is a pretty fair shot-putter, it is not unlikely that he will do fifty-eight or sixty feet in actual competition, and that his name will go down in the books along with that of Ralph Rose, whose mark of fifty-one feet stood for some twenty years.

Only a few weeks ago, Eric Krenz, Stanford's star weight man, broke the record of 158 feet 14 inches formerly held by Clarence (Bud) Houser, erstwhile University of Southern California star, and turned the trick in the same stadium at Palo Alto, Cal., where Bud had set his mark three years ago. Houser, by the way, is still in a competitive mood, and the rivalry between these two Westerners may yet lead to another new mark being attained.

NEW YORK YANKEES 'MURDERER'S ROW' WHACKING BALL

ARE CONFIDENT OF SOON LEADING AMERICAN LEAGUE

MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF 3 GAME SERIES WITH CHICAGO WHITE SOX

IN 53 TIMES AT BAT, RUTH, GEHRIG, MEUSEL, LAZZERI SOCK 26 HITS

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, May 7.—With "murderer's row" whacking the ball in great style, the New York Yankees moved on to St. Louis today, confident they will be leading the league before their present western invasion is ended.

Besides taking with them a clean sweep of the three-game series with the White Sox, the Yanks carried some greatly improved batting averages.

In 53 times at bat, the four men of the "row"—Ruth, Gehrig, Meusel and Lazzeri—socked out 26 hits, for an average approximating .500. Nine of the hits were home runs, distributed as follows:

Gehrig 3, Ruth 2, Lazzeri 2; Meusel 2.

The average of the entire team for the series was slightly better than .333, gained from 40 hits out of 119 times at bat.

That the old fighting spirit is still there was evidenced in yesterday's game when a late Sox rally tied the score. The Yanks came back in the tenth with four runs, in the style peculiar to them. Koenig tripped.

Figuring it better to pitch to anyone other than Ruth or Gehrig, Young Bob Weiland walked both, intending to get Meusel. Manager Blackburne of the Sox decided to send in Al Thomas, one of his aces at this point and Meusel greeted Thomas with a home run.

That was the story throughout the series. If Ruth were walked, Gehrig slammed one. If Gehrig walked Meusel slammed one and if all three got on Lazzeri socked the ball.

The only weakness the Yanks showed here centered around pitching. Piggras hurled the best game but the Sox nicked him for ten safe blows.

However, a team that averages approximately nine runs per game can get along without shut-out hurling.

Watching the Scoreboard

(By United Press)
Yesterday's Hero—Pinky Whitney, Phillies' third baseman, who singled with the bases filled in the ninth inning, giving Philadelphia a 2 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Steve Swetonie, Pittsburgh rookie, had the better of Percy Jones in a mound duel and the Pirates beat the Braves, 4 to 3. Both teams scored two runs in the ninth. The Waner brothers starred at bat and in the field.

Only home runs counted at the Polo grounds and the New York Giants broke their losing streak by hitting three circuit clouts and defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 1. Terry, Jackson and Fallis accounted for the Giants' three runs with homers and Wilson hit one for the Cards.

Collecting fifteen hits and stealing six bases, Brooklyn beat Cincinnati, 12 to 3. Five Cincinnati errors also aided the Robins. Bill Clark went the route for the Robins, pitching well behind a safe lead.

Bob Meusel's home run with the bases filled in the tenth inning gave the New York Yankees their third straight victory over the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 6.

Harry Heilmann's hitting featured Detroit's third straight win over the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 4.

Ten runs in the fifth inning enabled the Washington Senators to beat the Cleveland Indians, 13 to 5.

Wet grounds prevented the game between the Athletics and Browns.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—(U.P.)—One hundred and eight golfers, including all the American professionals, qualified in the British Open Golf championship here today with aggregates of 162 or better.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—(U.P.)—R. D. Mathieson, Edinburgh amateur golfer and former boy champion scored a hole-in-one while playing in the qualifying round of the British open today.

Mathieson's prize shot was on the fourth hole of the Muirfield course, 180 yards. His score for the first 18 holes of the qualifying round yesterday was 93.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—Leo Diegel, White Plains professional, took the lead over the qualifying field in the British Open Golf championship today with an aggregate of 144 strokes.

The American P. G. A. and Canadian champion shot a brilliant 70 over the championship Muirfield course, to add to his worthy 74 in the rain at Gullane yesterday.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 7.—Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., and Walter Hagen, defending champion, two of the American favorites in the British Open Golf championship qualified today with aggregates of 154 strokes, but the best early score of the day was turned in by Curil Tolley, husky British amateur, who shot 150.

A strong wind swept the seaside courses of Muirfield and Gullane, but the terrific rains of the opening day had ceased, and the scoring improved somewhat until it was estimated that better than 160 might be needed to qualify.

This estimate left Jim Barnes, former champion, in danger with his aggregate of 160. "Wild Bill" Melhorn, in whose play there is interest because he was left off the American Ryder Cup team and came here in-

Lindbergh Paints Picture of Aeronautics in America

Predicts Safe and Regular Air Passenger Service Within Year or Two

AMERICA'S airports, in order to properly serve the ultimate object of aviation, must be located within a few minutes of the center of the cities they are to serve, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh declared before a joint committee of Congress considering the selection of a municipal airport for the National Capital.

He emphasized strongly his feeling that America is sorely delinquent in the matter of airport development, and that this delinquency is hampering the progress of commercial air travel.

Airports should have concrete base and asphalt surface runways, should be carefully and evenly graded, and should be equipped with every possible facility for passenger comfort, he explained.

Colonel Lindbergh painted a glowing picture of the future of aeronautics in America, pointing out that there is more private flying in this country at the present time than in all of Europe combined.

In connection with the location of airports, Colonel Lindbergh expressed the belief that proximity to the business section is the most important item to be taken into consideration.

"If the airport is an hour's ride from the city," he explained, "it takes away most of the advantage of flying time; on a trip from New York or Philadelphia to Washington, the time required going to and from distant landing fields would add so much to the flying time that there would be little advantage over the railroad time."

dependently, had a qualifying aggregate of 155.

Playing the Muirfield course, over which the championship proper will start tomorrow, Horton Smith shot steady golf, going out in 38 and coming home in 38, for a total of 154. The youngster drove well but missed several short putts on tricky greens.

Johnny Golden, New Jersey pro, added a 77 today to his 79 of Monday for an aggregate of 156 to join the Americans who qualified.

Despite the improved weather conditions and the rapidly drying greens, Al Espinosa, American pro, needed 81 today for an aggregate of 161, which left him far from certain of qualifying.

Gene Sarazen, who finished second in last year's championship, came back gallantly today. The little Italian-American had 81 yesterday, a dangerous start, but he shot a 75 today, and his 156 puts him into the championship.

David A. Crawford, newly elected president of the Pullman Car Co., who succeeds the late Edward F. Carry. Crawford entered the company a score of years ago as Carry's secretary.

Early Bible Translation
The first translation of the Bible of any literary value, into the popular or Latin tongue, was the translation of St. Jerome in the reign of Pope Gregory. This version is known as the "Vulgate." St. Jerome commenced the translation in 382 and the work was practically finished in 390 A. D.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH (International Newsreel)

"Would a distance of 20 minutes be much of a handicap?" he was asked.

"That's reasonable," he replied, "but it would be better if it were possible to have the field even closer."

Lindbergh predicted that in a year or two there will be safe, regular, direct passenger service between New York and Rio de Janeiro or Buenos Aires. He pointed out that even now there is regular service between Miami and Port-au-Prince.

Inferiority Complexes

Johnny KUCK

By QUIN HALL
INFERIORITY complexes have figured in sports ever since the use of the term has become popularized. In almost every game known there are certain participants who fare much better in training or practice than in actual competition.

These fellows are world-beaters when there are no spectators or no rivals around, but put them in actual competition before the galleries and they must get the idea into their minds that they are no good, else they would sweep everything before them.

A lot of these fellows, however, eventually conquer their jinx before it is too late to make the headlines. Take the case of the bashful young Kansan, Johnny Kuck. Johnny may have had to go abroad to turn the trick but he most certainly turned it.

For a good many months prior to the Olympic games at Amsterdam last Summer, the critics had been saying that young Kuck usually did his best work in practice. His specialty, as you know, is toss in the shot and, even when the final tryouts for the team were held at the Harvard Stadium, the bashful star, who was hurling iron shot, the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, had an attack of stage fright, or "buck fever," and he will do fifty-eight or sixty feet in actual competition, and that his name will go down in the books along with that of Ralph Rose, whose mark of fifty-one feet stood for some twenty years.

Only a few weeks ago, Eric Krenz, Stanford's star weight man, broke the record of 155 feet 1 1/2 inches formerly held by Clarence (Bud) Houser, erstwhile University of Southern California star, and turned the trick in the same stadium at Palo Alto, Cal., where Bud had set his mark three years ago. Houser, by the way, is still in a competitive mood, and the rivalry between these two West-coasters may yet lead to another new mark being attained.

TO PUT END TO GEM SMUGGLING

Trade Circles Seek to Make Illicit Traffic Unprofitable.

Brussels.—There are indications that the flourishing contraband trade in cut diamonds and other gems with the United States will come to an end. A former American consul to Antwerp is trying to obtain certain tariff adjustments that would make smuggling unprofitable. Likewise, in trade circles on this side, measures are being taken to prevent this illicit traffic on account of its probable effect on prices. Coming from within, these are likely to be efficacious.

In the two chief diamond-cutting centers of Amsterdam and Antwerp efforts are being made to group all masters of the craft in one or another of the diamond clubs or associations. In Antwerp there are 4,000 diamond dealers, agents, and master cutters who are members of associations, and more than 14,000 diamond cutters belong to unions. In Amsterdam the number of cutters is much smaller, roughly a quarter of the Belgian figure. Amsterdam, however, deals in the large size, best-quality gems, and the work of cutting these is perhaps only 1 per cent of the price of the finished article.

Diamond Club Enlarged.

The cost goes up to 5 per cent for diamonds of two carats. Diamonds of one carat require even more workmanship, and for this class of gems cutting operations come sometimes to as much as 15 per cent of the price, while for the small, cheap class of goods cutting may be 60 per cent of the price. It will be seen that it is more advantageous to smuggle cut gems than to take similar risks for rough diamonds, especially as even an expert cannot say whether a rough stone will stand cutting or not.

Regulation of the diamond cutting trade entails control of the contraband trade also. For this reason, and yielding to pressure exercised by the international trade association, master diamond cutters are building large factories in which the cutters can be gathered. This will gradually put an end to the small cutter, who practices his trade at home. Figures will thus be available for ascertaining what number of gems have been cut during a certain period. Similarly, all dealers are being encouraged to enter one of the professional clubs that heretofore have been very select. It is in furtherance of this program that the well-known Diamond club of Antwerp is being enlarged and entrance facilitated for all dealers.

May Work Overtime.

If this action from within the trade is supported by some concessions from the United States it may be expected that diamond smuggling will be minimized, since the dangers and difficulties of the operation will make it unprofitable. On the other hand, the regular controlled employment of a majority of the diamond cutters does not necessarily mean that existing cutting machines, at their homes, will be destroyed. Eight hours' work does not exhaust the capacity of the hard working Fleming, and he may labor after hours for the contraband trade.

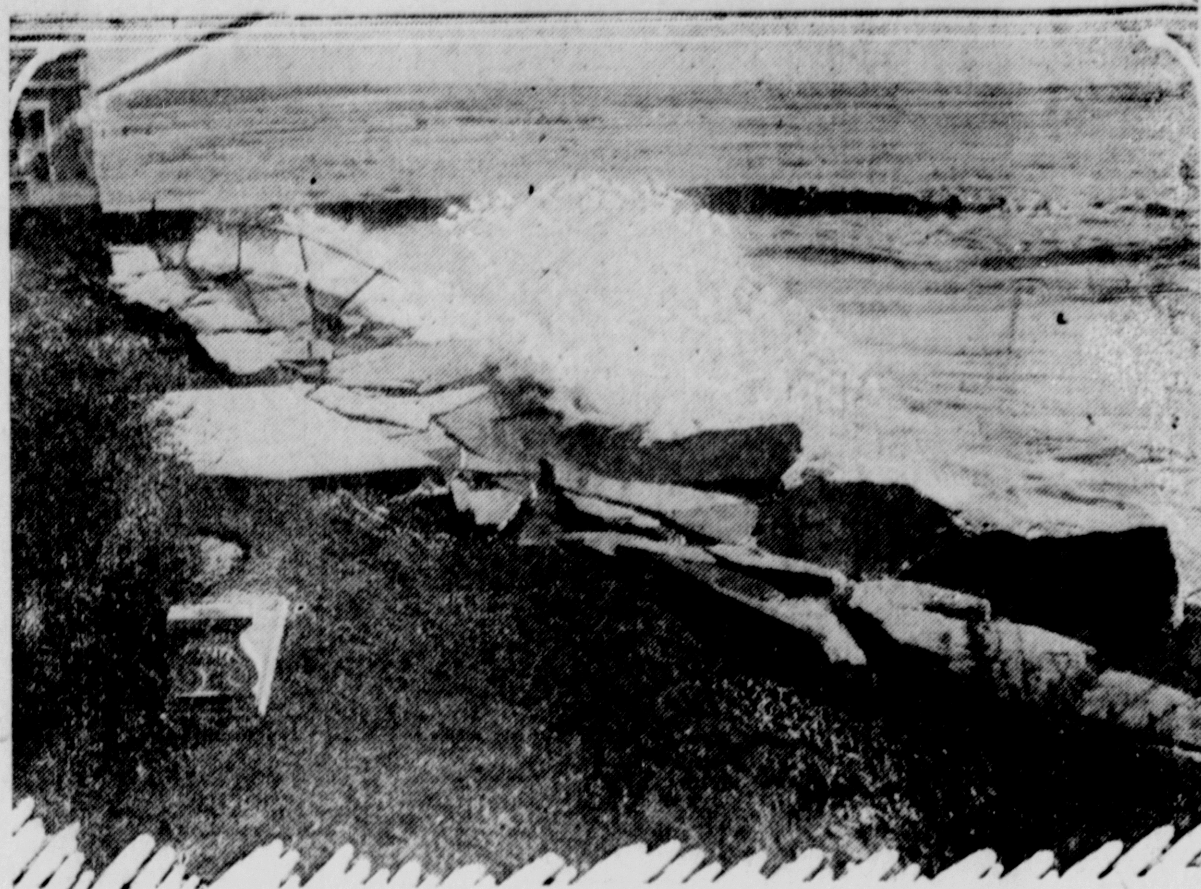

If the dealers succeed in suppressing contraband trade in cut gems, a fillip may be given to the rough diamond trade, or to that in gems cut in South Africa, a business that does not touch either Antwerp or Amsterdam. This regulation of the diamond cutting trade, however necessary, will detract greatly from the picturesque aspect of both Amsterdam and Antwerp. The substitution of the large Diamond club, with its excellent lighting and its posse of detectives, for the homely, dark diamond cafe, centuries old, will take much from the character of the ports. It is possible that the characteristic diamond trade carried on by certain families, the art being transmitted from father to son, will go elsewhere. The dealer, armed with nothing but a magnifying glass and a pocket scale, who depends on his judgment to carry out transactions involving thousands, may visit Marseilles or Venice instead of Amsterdam and Antwerp. The present high-class trade carried on in the local diamond cafes will perhaps be shared between the new fashioned clubs or bourses and the dock wine shop.

Scientist 75, Begins to Make Great Mirror

Lynn, Mass.—Dr. Ellhu Thomson, one of the country's foremost inventors, at the age of seventy-five has undertaken one of the world's most difficult scientific tasks, the making of a telescope reflector as big as the floor of a large dwelling room, that must have a surface perfectly proportioned to one millionth of an inch.

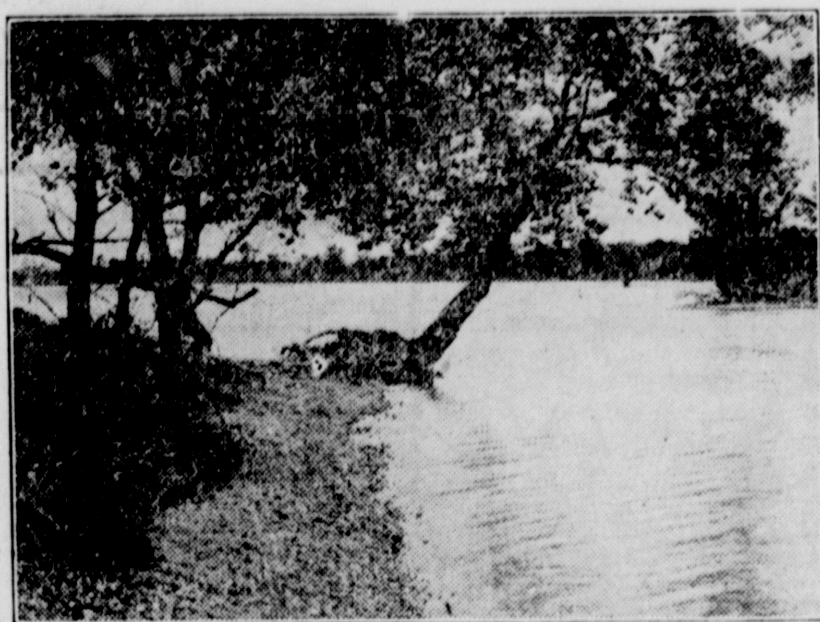

The great mirror is for the 200-inch telescope of California Institute of Technology. It will have twice the diameter of the present largest instrument. It will be of fused quartz, a material less affected by contraction and expansion than any other known substance. Perfection of the great mirror is expected to require several years.

It pays to know

When you spend your money for the seven and seventy things that are always popping out of nowhere to demand a portion of your income, you want to be certain they are returning the utmost in value for your every dollar.

But how can you know the worth of the products you buy? Can you test them scientifically?

Can you make microscopic examinations for flaws and imperfections? Chemical analyses for purity and composition? Physical machine-tests for stress and strain, strength and durability? Have you laboratories equipped for this work? Can you afford the scientists and research workers to perform it?

There is a less expensive way to safeguard your purchases. A better way to buy.

Buy products that have been tested by others! Products that have passed the most ruthless and rigid of all tests... that of actual use! Nationally known, nationally liked, nationally used products! Advertised products!

Here, in the advertisements, are products of sound worth brought to your attention. Products manufactured to standards of certain quality, that have been tried and tested by the most exacting persons... people who have bought them, and used them over and over again. Products worth your money.

IMPROVEMENT OF 8TH ST. CROSSING

N. P. Officials Have Definite Plan to Improve Crossing Within the Year

PAVE BETWEEN TRACKS

Temporary Improvement to be Made Soon; Old Council Holds Last Regular Session

Northern Pacific railway officials, Joseph Smith, division roadmaster and H. Fairchild, division superintendent of bridges and buildings, announced in a letter to the city council read last evening that definite plans were underway to permanently improve the 8th street crossing of the railway in Brainerd within the next year.

Meanwhile temporary improvement will be made there to improve the condition of the crossing.

The plan for permanent improvement proposes the laying of concrete on the street leading up to the track on both sides and also the laying of concrete between the rails.

The Pioneer Oil Co. was granted permission to put in a bulk station subject to the approval of the building inspector on the northwest corner of 4th and Front streets.

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton called attention of the council to the statement made by Alderman Martin Anderson in a recent issue of the Dispatch.

Mr. Fullerton asserted that the statement was misleading as Mr. Anderson set forth only a certain provision of the charter and did not give the whole provision of the charter governing the employment of a deputy city clerk.

"Mr. Anderson quoted only a portion of section 20 which deals with the power of the city clerk to appoint a deputy whereas the council acted under authority of Section 8 which gives the members power to appoint such other officers as they may deem proper and necessary. Services of the deputy city clerk during the short illness period of Mrs. E. T. Fleener, clerk were paid in the regular manner by the council," said the city attorney.

On motion of Aldermen W. J. Hall and Andrew Wesley the purchasing committee was ordered to purchase a carload of sewer pipe of such dimensions as specified by the city engineer for repairs to city sewers.

On motion of Aldermen Martin Anderson and C. G. Holmstrom, a previous motion that the council advertise for bids for a city truck was rescinded and the matter left over for the new council.

The finance committee reported that auditing of the city books by O. C. Strand, certified public account of the firm of Strand and Roe would commence on May 15.

The city engineer was instructed to scarify Maple and Norwood streets between 5th and Sixth streets on motion of Aldermen Ernest Ritari and Andrew Wesley.

The meeting last evening was the last regular meeting of the old city council. Old members will greet the new in a brief get together meeting tonight.

SWEDISH GLEE CLUB PLEASURES

Program Given Saturday Evening Gave Variety and Evincing Careful Preparation

NUMBERS REVIEWED

E. O. Anderson, Director, Club and Those Assisting Receive Commendation

A program of variety and careful preparation was presented last Saturday evening by the Swedish Glee club and others. This large group of men, singing unaccompanied, produces rich, organ like harmonies, and sings with an unusual heartiness that communicates cheer to its audience. Sometimes one's attention was attracted to the tenors' work, and sometimes to the basses' mellow foundation tones, or to some interesting quick work in their part.

A very spirited number was the Italian Street Song in which one lovely high soprano voice, that of Miss Georgia Drexler, carried above the strong ringing of the entire Glee club and drew enthusiastic applause at the close. As an encore they sang a song of a very different type—"Last Night." In this song, Miss Drexler charmed with her sustained singing, in contrast to the flexibility and abandon required by the first number. Her high, unbelievably soft tones in the second song would have made the evening worth while had nothing else been well done. The Glee club accompaniment to this song was very good.

Mrs. A. W. Moulster, soprano, Mrs. C. W. Mahlum, contralto, William Anderson, tenor, and G. Wahlstrom, bass, gave a group of songs of which "Strumming" was especially good, not only for the strumming effect that they produced, but for their accompaniment to the tenor solo. Although three of these four people do not speak a Scandinavian language, they sang a Swedish song they had learned as a compliment to the club. Brainerd has very few mixed quartet groups that sing on public programs and this group has a decided place to fill. Mrs. Louis Knudsen was accompanist.

One duet appeared on the program—A. C. Mraz and Roland Jenkins, who are ever popular whether as soloists or singing with others. In their first number the decided rhythm was very well brought out. In his solos, Mr. Mraz showed his ability to handle two very different types of songs, "Invictus" being especially suited to his style.

Another vocal solo of a still different nature was feelingly sung by Charles Jernberg. This song was written by the composer brother of Dr. Reimstad, whom many people in and around Brainerd remember with the highest regard.

The instrumental pieces were violin solos by K. Brackner who plays with a smooth, clear tone that holds attention.

E. O. Anderson, director of the Glee club, and the singers are to be commended most decidedly for their work. Miss Effie Drexler as accompanist gave a great deal of her time for this program. Much thanks is due her for her constant help along musical lines, making self-expression possible for many.

COUNCIL ORDERS REFUSE CLEANUP

Members Criticize Condition of Property Leading to City Dumping Grounds

The grounds bordering the road from the entrance of highways No. 2 and 19 to the city dumping grounds, long a source of unsightly appearance due to the unloading of refuse by inconsiderate haulers, was discussed at length by members of the city council last evening as they sought to determine a method to bring about better conditions there.

Following several suggestions the matter was referred to the mayor and police committee with power to act.

Just previous to the passage of the motion, Mayor Frank E. Little suggested that by placing a man to patrol that section for awhile conditions would improve.

President W. J. Lyons opened the discussion by stating that the condition of the property adjoining the road was a disgrace to the city.

Alderman V. E. Quamstrom stated that the dumping of refuse rather than haul it a short distance farther to the city dumping grounds was an act which only an ungrateful person could think of.

Alderman Andrew Wesley suggested that a new road be constructed in to the grounds and that a fence be placed on both sides of it.

City Engineer Campbell stated that in his belief the greatest handicap was the fact that the road was such as to permit only one way traffic and that trucks in passing each other lost a great deal of its load. He suggested that a new road considerably wider than the present one be constructed.

Suitable Piano is Absolutely Necessary

A. G. GULBRANSEN sees, as a result of this modern educational movement of national scope, a great need. When 25,000,000 children start learning to play the piano, they must have a suitable piano sooner or later in their homes.

Only a bright, new, quality instrument of modern design will satisfy this great need and be a suitable companion to these 25,000,000 children during that most critical period of their lives when they must need to be surrounded by beautiful things. Gulbransen knows that old pianos or relics of by-gone days will not fill this vast need any more than a child would be content to go to school wearing a model 1915 coat. Music teachers know that many a child has lost interest in music because of being obliged to use an old out-of-date, worn-out, piano fit only for the scrap heap.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

DAPHNE HAINES, seventeen and lovely, is literally driven from home by her nagging stepmother, whose sole interest is in her own daughter, Crystal. The second Mrs. Haines is determined that Crystal shall marry Ralph McKevitt, a handsome young man of wealth. Ralph, one day admires Daphne, whom he sees at a distance, and Mrs. Haines decides to permanently eliminate the younger girl, whose rivalry she secretly fears. She provokes a sordid quarrel in the household, and Daphne, realizing the helplessness of her position, leaves home to make her way in San Francisco. The quest for employment is difficult. She is almost starving when she encounters Ralph McKevitt, her stepmother's "prize" young man, in a cheap restaurant. He buys her a hearty meal and takes her home in his car. As weeks pass a nice friendship develops between them. Ralph secures a good position for the girl, and when he kisses her in the moonlight she feels she is in an earthly Paradise.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 13.

ALL roomers were interested in the nickel trimmed yellow car that drove up to the curb in front of Mrs. Hinckle's every night, and in the good looking young man who climbed out of it.

"Plastered with money!" Flora McCordle told Mrs. Spellman and Mrs. Halliday.

"Hm, if McCordle knows so much about him he can't be much good," Mrs. Spellman observed. "Well, I wouldn't want this to go any farther, but I'm a great believer in a working girl staying in her own class. You mark my words, Mrs. Spellman, that poor girl will live to rue the day—"

"You don't mean—?"

"Well, every night it's later. I woke up last night long after midnight—in fact—I thought it was the milkman, and I was going to say to Mr. Halliday . . . what was I saying?"

"About her coming in late—"

"Oh, yes, I raised up in bed, and looked out, and there he was kissing her on the steps. I didn't say anything to Mr. Halliday, but I just thought 'Well, if any man but my husband—'"

"He must have fine intentions," Mrs. Spellman murmured, nearly ruining the sock in her excitement.

They talked about it all day. Daphne did a lot of day-dreaming. More than she knew. Sometimes she would hold a card in her hand for five minutes at a time, looking at it and through it, her mind a thousand miles away, before slipping it into the typewriter at the office.

"Well, really!" Miss Abrams, who was in charge of the office, said to her first assistant, "I'm afraid I'll have to get rid of Miss Haines, and it's a pity because she's such a neat typist, but she seems so in love, suppose—"

And the first assistant who had muddy skin and stoop shoulders said, "I know, and it isn't a very good influence on the other girls—"

"I'll speak to her, Miss Abrams decided, but she didn't speak; she had lots to think of."

So Daphne continued to walk on air. She was saving for a new hat. "I'll pay you back on Saturday," she told Ralph. "We get paid twice a month, on the first and the fifteenth. I've been there two weeks—just think—$42.50!"

"Outrage!" he growled. "You can't live on that. If I don't get you twice that I'll give up. I'm going to get you a real position, say fifty a week; that's a decent wage for a girl."

"Even thirty would be wonderful!" she said wistfully.

But Ralph would not take back his ten dollars until he had found her a position, and though it weighed on her conscience, she was a little glad. She could buy a hat now, and maybe shoes.

She had the hat picked out long before she had the money to pay for it. On Saturday it was still there waiting for her when she counted out the money. New shoes she bought, too, and a pair of chiffon stockings, and a lovely pair of pale doekin gloves that she found on the dollar table. She really couldn't afford the dollar, but they were so lovely and so cheap.

And finally, with a feeling of reckless, guilty extravagance, she purchased a new pink powder puff and some real French perfume. "Really, a quarter of an ounce is the least we ever sell, madam!" she said, smiling at her through the paper that covered it, holding it to her nose furtively, when the other passengers weren't looking, on her way home in the street car.

Perfume . . . Crystal used to say men liked it . . . If only the weather would stay warm, so that she could go without her coat.

Miss Viola saw her coming in with the hat bag and ran to open the door. "Did you get a new hat? Oh . . . blue . . . rose is more my color. Do you mind if I try it on?"

Old Mrs. Hinckle put down her dust mop to finger it, too. "I hope it don't fade . . . it's nice, aber it wouldn't do for me—"

Daphne almost burst out laughing . . . old Mrs. Hinckle with her darling blue hat! But her eyes filled . . . poor old things, working and working and too old to have any fun . . .

"I was always partial to lavender," Miss Viola was saying, "may be on account of my name. I always said to Mama, 'When I get married I'm going to have every thing lavender. Lavender ribbon in everything'."

"Foolish talk," the old lady grumbled, moving down the hall carpet slippers flip-flopping, "Foolish talk . . . Ach! Gott!"

Somehow it took the pleasure out of her purchases, hearing of Miss Viola, who was fat and faded, saying, "When I get married! Not knowing, not guessing, that life had passed her by . . . what if it passed her, too? What if Ralph didn't really love her?"

"Oh, but he does! He does!" She told herself feverishly, dressing, oh so carefully, before the high, streaked mirror in her room. Twice she went to the window, to see if there was fog blowing in or the wind from the sea. But it was still warm and balmy. "Oh, if he'll only get here early, before it gets cold—so I won't have to take my coat!"

When she was all ready, even to the doekin gloves and the perfume behind her ears, she sat down with a book to wait. But she couldn't keep her mind on the printed page. Her whole being was tuned to the telephone . . . waiting for it to ring.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

City Beautification Is Aim of St. Louis Heads

Dr. George T. Moore, director of Shaw's Garden, is to be thanked and St. Louis home owners congratulated upon the proposed substitution of a school for the training of practical amateur gardeners in place of the custom of training landscape architects that has been in force at the garden for many years. While the service to St. Louis and the St. Louis district through the training of landscape architects has been great, the service by which practical gardeners and home owners who may be classed as amateurs are instructed in proper methods of home beautification in caring for shrubbery, flowers and lawns must be considered of greater importance. Greater because through this method of disseminating information the property of thousands of owners who cannot afford the ministrations of landscape architects will be improved and the entire city made more beautiful, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

There can be little doubt that lack of proper knowledge on the part of individual owners is responsible for a lowering of the standards of property beauty in cities. Persons who may have had success in maintaining velvet lawns, proper distribution of flowers and shrubbery in back yards in smaller towns or even in former years in the crowded city lose interest when the same efforts fall on ground that has become impoverished as residence districts grow older and more densely populated. So they give up and let unlovely city nature take its course.

Southern Cities Study Chance for Improving

Service of making semi-technical industrial surveys is being offered to small cities of Virginia by members of the Virginia Polytechnic institute faculty. The work of making these surveys will be in charge of Reuben L. Humbert, who has served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Harrisonburg, Va.

The survey will determine such essential facts about the city being surveyed as the number of industries already there, the kind, number of persons engaged, the amount of weekly pay rolls, and what inducements are offered for new industries to locate.

In addition to this, certain primary factors such as climate, amount and kind of raw materials, natural resources, type of labor, average wages offered, working conditions prevailing, living conditions, amount of power and its cost, kind of freight and express transportation, type of schools and churches, development of recreational facilities, and the tax rate will be tabulated.

Other factors to be studied are municipal improvements such as sewerage, water, light, police and fire protection.

Good Lumber Is Vital to Sturdiness of Home

Houses may be constructed of stucco, stone, or like the Grace Park of St. Louis, of brick, but one ingredient is necessary to all: good lumber.

Much of the success and sturdiness of a home is dependent on proper bracing and spacing of materials. Joists should be of sufficient size to insure perfectly rigid floor surface. They should be strengthened under all bearing partitions and stair wells.

In the Grace Park the first floor joists rest on substantial wall plates and girders, and are placed on 16-inch centers, properly bridged to prevent buckling or twisting. Subflooring is laid diagonally over these joists in the shape of ¾-inch yellow pine shiplap, nailed to the joists.

Outside walls are also sheathed with ¾-inch yellow pine shiplap, well nailed to studding and overlaid with building paper, with outside siding of red cedar. All window and door frames are of good quality and properly set.

Face Brick's Value.

Colorful face brick will make your new house a real home—substantial, comfortable, satisfying—one that will serve you a lifetime and pass down to your children's children, lovely with the mellowness of the years, precious with the cherished memories of family, fireside and genial friends. In the wide range of attractive face brick colors and textures you will find just the right tones to suit your particular house and your own individual tastes.

Durable, comfortable through all the seasons, safe from fire, slow to depreciate, with low insurance rates and smaller fuel bills, freedom from repair and painting costs, your face brick home will in the long run cost no more than the house built of less enduring materials.—Chicago Evening Post.

Beautifying California.

A state-wide campaign to clean up and beautify the roadsides of California has been launched by the Automobile Club of Southern California. Civic organizations, women's clubs, newspapers and city officials are co-operating.

CHAPTER 14.

ALL roomers were interested in the nickel trimmed yellow car that drove up to the curb in front of Mrs. Hinckle's every night, and in the good looking young man who climbed out of it.

"Plastered with money!" Flora McCordle told Mrs. Spellman and Mrs. Halliday.

"Hm, if McCordle knows so much about him he can't be much good," Mrs. Spellman observed.

"He must have fine intentions," Mrs. Spellman murmured, nearly ruining the sock in her excitement.

They talked about it all day. Daphne did a lot of day-dreaming. More than she knew. Sometimes she would hold a card in her hand for five minutes at a time, looking at it and through it, her mind a thousand miles away, before slipping it into the typewriter at the office.

"Well, really!" Miss Abrams, who was in charge of the office, said to her first assistant, "I'm afraid I'll have to get rid of Miss Haines, and it's a pity because she's such a neat typist, and so quick to get on to things, but she moons so—in love, suppose—"

"And the first assistant who had muddy skin and stoop shoulders said, 'I know, and it isn't a very good influence on the other girls—'

She had the hat picked out long before she had the money to pay for it. On Saturday it was still there waiting for her when she counted out the money. New shoes she bought, too, and a pair of chiffon stockings, and a lovely pair of pale doekin gloves that she found on the dollar table. She really couldn't afford the dollar, but they were so lovely and so cheap.

And finally, with a feeling of reckless, guilty extravagance, she purchased a new pink powder puff and some real French perfume. "Really, a quarter of an ounce is the least we ever sell, madam!" She could smell it through the paper that covered it, holding it to her nose furtively, when the other passengers weren't looking, on her way home in the street car.

Perfume . . . Crystal used to say men liked it . . . If only the weather would stay warm, so that she could go without her coat.

Miss Viola saw her coming in with the hat bag and ran to open the door. "Did you get a new hat? Oh . . . blue . . . rose is more my color. Do you mind if I try it on?"

Old Mrs. Hinckle put down her dust mop to finger it, too. "I hope it don't fade . . . it's nice, aber it wouldn't do for me—"

Daphne almost burst out laughing . . . old Mrs. Hinckle with her darling blue hat! But her eyes filled . . . poor old things, working and working and too old to have any fun . . .

"I was always partial to lavender," Miss Viola was saying, "may be on account of my name. I always said to Mama, 'When I get married I'm going to have every thing lavender.' Lavender ribbon in everything"

"Foolish talk," the old lady grumbled, moving down the hall carpet slippers flip-flopping, "Foolish talk. Ach! Gott!"

Somehow it took the pleasure out of her purchases, hearing of

"Oh, yes, I raised up in bed, and looked out, and there he was kissing her on the steps. I didn't say anything to Mr. Halliday, but I just thought 'Well, if any man but my husband—'

"He must have fine intentions," Mrs. Spellman murmured, nearly ruining the sock in her excitement.

They talked about it all day. Daphne did a lot of day-dreaming. More than she knew. Sometimes she would hold a card in her hand for five minutes at a time, looking at it and through it, her mind a thousand miles away, before slipping it into the typewriter at the office.

"Well, really!" Miss Abrams, who was in charge of the office, said to her first assistant, "I'm afraid I'll have to get rid of Miss Haines, and it's a pity because she's such a neat typist, and so quick to get on to things, but she moons so—in love, suppose—"
